

KRUGER CHEERED BY THE FRENCH

Oom Paul's Reception at Paris Was a Tremendous Ovation.

WHOLE CITY TURNS OUT

"Down With the English" Has Now Become the Popular Paris Cry.

FEAR IT MAY RILE ENGLAND

Paris, Nov. 24.—Krugers party arrived at Lyons station at 11:30 o'clock today. A large crowd was at the station and the old Boer leader was wildly cheered.

A committee from the municipal council, several deputies and the Irish contingent met Kruger as he alighted from the train. The committee read an address of welcome and the Irishmen handed the president a memorial on behalf of the Irish people wishing him success in his struggle.

Crowds lined the streets.
After a brief reception the party entered carriages and proceeded to a hotel where a floor had been reserved.
The route was along the Rue de Lyons, through the Place de Bastille, thence to the main boulevards. Crowds lined the streets, and there was much cheering though the Parisians were not so enthusiastic as the Frenchmen of the southern cities.

But while the demonstration was not so violent and concentrated as at Lyons and Dijon it was more extensive and the Boer president received a constant ovation for two miles from nearly a million people. Kruger was vastly impressed by the heartiness and was visibly affected. At times the crowd pressed about the carriage so close that the police made a path with difficulty.

Crowd Became Frantic.
In response to cheers Kruger kept repeating: "I'm glad to arrive at the capital of civilization." The demonstration was the greatest when the party reached the Hotel Scribe. The neighboring balconies and roofs were black with people. Later in response to frantic calls Kruger appeared a moment on the balcony and waved his salutations whereupon the crowd was wrought to a high pitch. Several delegations waited upon the aged president and assured him that there had never before been such a demonstration in Paris.

President Kruger spent the night at Dijon, but Mme. Eloff and most of the Boer officials, with the press corre-

PAUL KRUGER.

spondents, came on to Paris. Mme.
Eloff has taken apartments in the Hotel Scribe, where President Kruger will stay during his sojourn in Paris.

Paris is placarded with flaming red posters calling on the population to manifest in favor of Kruger, but the strictest orders have been given to the police to allow no anti-English demonstration.

Lucien Millevoye, in a passionate editorial, writes: "Glory to Kruger, who threw the word 'barbarians' into the teeth of the English. Let England understand and be warned."

President Loubet's Tact.
With infinite tact President Loubet did not reply to the Kruger telegram by another telegram, as is usual when a message is received from the chief of a state, but simply instructed the Prefect of Marseilles to thank Kruger verbally. Thus he avoided officially addressing Kruger in a public message.

Greeting Along the Route.
All along the line from Marseilles to Dijon, where Kruger spent the night, the journey was one long, enthusiastic greeting. Thousands of people shouted "Long live Kruger," and "Down with the English," at every stop, and the Boer President seemed carried away with emotion over the warmth of his greeting, which was really more remarkable than the one at Marseilles, where the population is naturally enthusiastic by temperament. The first stop was made at Tarascon, where flowers were presented and addresses of welcome made. At Avignon the city authorities were waiting at the station with bands of music. President Krugers was received officially. It remained for the City of Lyons to give Krugers the greatest welcome. Thousands of people were massed at the railway station and in the surrounding streets. The appearance of Kruger was the signal for a mighty roar of cheering, which swept through the crowd, and a part of the city authorities joined in the welcome. Then the crowd took up the cry, "Down with the English," shaking fists, waving flags, and throwing hats into the air. The demonstration was suggestive of the popularity of a war with England, to which the Boers would not be anxious to provoke France.

Will Ask for Mediation.
Brussels, Nov. 24.—The Soir this evening says that Kruger on his arrival at the Hague will ask for mediation, and if unsuccessful, he will make public all of the documents of state in his possession, showing the secrets of the war. The paper adds that Mr.
Krugers believes that when Europe knows the truth it will produce such an outburst of public opinion that Great Britain will be compelled to be less harsh.

The Soir adds that, failing in this,
Mr. Kruger will return to the Transvaal.

BANKRUPT DUKE IS UP IN COURT

Manchester's Debts $188,500. While His Assets Are $37,725.—Considers Sail for America Today.

London, Nov. 24.—The Duke and Duchess of Manchester, the revelation of whose secret marriage here last week startled the society people of the United States and England, arrived from Ireland today, whither they had gone shortly after the wedding.

The duke appeared before the registrar in bankruptcy and through his counsel decided that he was ready to enter the box and make a statement regarding the accounts that had been filed against him. The receiver asked for more time to examine the accounts, and the case was adjourned to Feb. 2, 1901, the duke's counsel having said that his client, who was about to take a trip to the United States, would return by that time. The liabilities disclosed were $188,500, assets, $37,725.

The duke and duchess of Manchester sailed for New York today on the Steamer St. Louis, from Southampton.

BOERS HAVE AGAIN TAKEN THE FIELD

Dewet and Botha Unite Their Forces and Threaten to Overrun Orange Free State.

London, Nov. 24.—London hears disquieting news from the seat of war in south Africa today, and the fear is openly expressed that Lord Kitchener
will have to reconquer the Orange Free State before he can begin the pacification of the Transvaal.

The Star today, commenting on the report that General Botha, with his commando, is close to Dewet, regards the news as the most disquieting and says:
"We have heard many strange and unverifiable stories, but one thing we know, that French was pursued all the way from Middleburg to Sanderton and got through the terrible neck in the mountains only by the skin of his teeth."

Proceeding, the Star suggests that General Botha pursued the British, marched south and joined hands with General Dewet, and that thus Bloemfontein is endangered and the Orange Free State will have to be reconquered before the subduing of the Transvaal can be commenced.

In connection with the above, a belated telegram today announces that General French arrived at Johannesburg on Nov. 17.

WEDDED IN LA PRAIRIE

Ceremony Uniting in Marriage Miss Hattie Smith and Wallington Day Last Wednesday.

A quiet but very interesting marriage was celebrated at the home of Scott Smith, Esq., of La Prairie Wednesday evening, his daughter, Miss Hattie Smith, having been united in wedlock with Mr. Wallington Day, also of La Prairie.

The bride, a beautiful young lady, looked well in her becoming wedding dress, and as, with her handsome young husband, she stood before the assembled guests, the impression was made upon all that they were "well mated."

After the marriage ceremony, which was conducted by Rev. C. Bulley of Shopshire, the guests repaired to the dining room and partook of the sumptuous repast there laid out. Good fellowship prevailed, and in the "wee, sma' hours" the company retired, after leaving their hearty verbal congratulations and good wishes, accompanied by more substantial tokens of their esteem in beautiful and valuable wedding gifts.

The community of neighbors joins in kindly wishes for the future happiness of the young people, who intend making their home in La Prairie.

his father's farm.

THINK PRIMARY LAW MAY PASS

Politicians Expect Election Reform in State of Wisconsin.

MAY NOT BE RADICAL

General Feeling That a Law of Some Sort Will Be Promptly Passed.

H. C. ADAMS GIVES REASONS

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 24.—Politicians at the Hotel Pfister today discus-ed the proposed primary election law, and while there seemed to be a great variety of opinion on the subject, the impression prevailed that a law of some kind would be passed in accordance with the platform promises of the republican party.

Gilbert Vandercook, who will make a strong fight to hold his seat in the assembly, although it is alleged that he was defeated by four votes, says he thinks a law providing for caucuses of all parties on one day, at the same places, so that the elector could vote for the candidates of one party, will be passed.

H. C. Adams, who is a close Governor-Elect La Follette as any man in the state, says he has not the slightest doubt but that the law will pass the legislature this winter. He said today:

Adams on the Law.

"There may be a number of individuals who are against the proposition, but I am satisfied that the general sentiment of a majority of both the Republican and Democratic parties is in favor of it. I do not doubt but that the law will be a disappointment to its friends in some particulars. The law may not always result in the nomination of the strongest and the most capable men for office, but the constant tendency of it will be in the direction of securing the nomination of candidates whom the rank and file of the political parties want, and as the whole theory of this government is based on the principle that the majority of its citizens is wise enough to govern it, it is difficult to make an effective argument against this law."

"The argument that the best people will not go to the primaries is sufficiently answered by the statement of the undisputed fact that in the main they do go to the elections where no caucus methods are possible."

Believe in Party Judgment.

"To make plain the difference of opinion between the friends and opponents of this measure, it can be stated that its friends believe implicitly in party judgment when expressed by a majority of the members of that party, and that this law will result in majority rule between the parties. The opponents of the measure either in majority rule in party management or else hold to the rather untenable doctrine that a primary election law will secure a less general expression from the people than the one that we now have."

"I have no way of knowing what the details of the proposed bill will be, but believe that Mr. La Follette's ideas will substantially be carried out. It is true that the members of both the house and the senate have expressed themselves as against this law, but they have spoken without further investigation, and a close examination of the question when brought before them in their legislative capacity will in many instances result in a change of judgment."

Beet Sugar Factory Transfer.

Waukesha, Wis., Nov. 24.—Today there was filed with the register of deeds here a quit claim deed executed by Richard G. Wagner of Milwaukee, and transferring to the Wisconsin Sugar company, the beet sugar plant at Menomonie Falls. The amount named in the deed is $1 and other good and valuable considerations. The revenue stamps upon the document aggregated $175, indicating that the value of the property is placed at $175,000.

LOGGERS BEGIN WORK

Marshfield Lumbering Concerns Will Put in a Large Amount of Timber.

Marshfield, Wis., Nov. 24.—The logging season in this section of the state is now fairly opened, the favorable weather of the past few days having made it possible for the most of the camps to be put in. The swamps and ground are frozen and there is sufficient snow on the ground to make sleighing. Woodsmen are in great demand and unusually good wages are offered.

The cut this year will equal that of last year which was considered the banner year, more than 70,000,000 feet.

MAY BREAK THE PEKIN DEADLOCK

McKinley Asks Powers to Appoint a New Joint Commission.

TERMS ARE TOO HARSH

Present Envoys Are Unable to Agree Upon a Settlement Satisfactory to All.

MINISTERS ARE PREJUDICED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Secretary Hay today addressed an identical note to the powers, suggesting steps leading to the appointment of an international committee to settle the Chinese imbroglio.

The commission, according to the idea of President McKinley, with whom the idea originated, is to be composed of one or perhaps two representatives of each power interested in China.

It is also the president's idea that the international commission shall sit not at Peking, but at Paris, London, Washington, or some other capital that may be agreed upon.

It may be said that the powers have already been sounded upon the matter, and that several have already indicated their approval of the proposed international commission. It is for the purpose of securing definite replies that Secretary Hay dispatched the identical note today.

Deadlock at Peking.

For some time past the negotiations at Peking have been in the shape as to whether the failure of any agreement whatever being reached. Germany and some of the other European nations insisted on making extraordinary demands upon China in regard to the amount of indemnity demanded and the punishment of those responsible for the uprising.

This government could not agree to these proposals, and just at the moment when the negotiations are about to end in failure, as it has done more than once, has stepped in with a new proposition which promises to be agreeable to all interested and to result in a settlement of the Chinese question, which has been dragging along for many months.

Ministers Are Prejudiced.

As is well known the ministers who are now conducting the negotiations went through the entire siege of Pekin, and they are naturally embittered against the Chinese, and not wholly responsible for the extraordinary demand made—namely: the decapitation of eleven or more of those who took part in administering the government during the Boxer outbreak and incited the Boxers to rising.

Disagreement With Congress.

Minister Conger, as well as the other diplomatic representatives in Peking, does not take the same view of this matter as does this government. For this reason the president is anxious that the negotiations should be taken out of the hands of the men who are naturally prejudiced against the Chinese.

Therefore, it is the desire of the United States government that new proposals will be made by the powers which will pave the way out of the difficulty.

WILL ECLIPSE ALL FORMER DINNERS

Thanksgiving Day Feast At the Mary Kimball Mission For the Poor People.

The dinner to be given at the Mary Kimball Mission on Thanksgiving afternoon will eclipse all former ones given by Miss Kimball to the poor children of the town. She expects to feed at least two hundred and fifty hungry waifs at this time and hopes that the people of Janesville will be liberal with her in the way of donations. She requests that all friends will lend in their donations as early in the day as possible in order that she may know what to figure on. The dinner will be served at two o'clock. Friends of the mission are invited to come and see the children enjoy themselves.
A Thanksgiving sermon will be preached in the evening by the Rev.
Maggie Kenton.

McKinley Goes to a Wedding.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Mrs.
McKinley has decided not to accompany the President and the members of the cabinet to Baltimore to-day to attend the wedding of Miss Gary, daughter of ex-Postmaster-General Gary. Mrs. Gage and Miss Wilson will go. The President and the cabinet, after the wedding, will continue their journey to Philadelphia, where they are to attend the Union League banquet, to-night.

FRANCE URGES CLAIM.

Gunboats Remain at Shantak and Refuse a 60-Per-Cent Compromise.

New York, Nov. 24.—One thousand Black Flags have returned to Canton, says a dispatch from Hongkong. Although the rebellion has subsided in the east river district the disturbed villagers are repudiating the rule of the mandarins, refusing to pay taxes.

The French are extremely active, relying on the visits of the gunboats as an effective means of settling indemnities. Three gunboats remain at Shantak to enforce a claim of 170,000 taels.
The mandarins offer 60 per cent, which has not been accepted. There are fears of fresh outbursts of disaffection.

Rules for Hawaii Mail.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—The third assistant postmaster general has issued an order directing that, as Hawaii is now a territory of the United States, with the domestic registration system in full operation there, all postmasters making up registered mails must address them not only with the postoffice name, but with that of the island on which the office is located, and add the name of Hawaii.

THOROUGH TEST OF RURAL DELIVERY

Different Counties Selected for the Distribution of Mail—Congress Will Assist.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Before the winter is over there is to be a systematic trial of the rural free delivery service covering large areas in different parts of the country. Nothing in mechanism of the government has been so surprising as the successful application of the free delivery service to small farming communities.
The practice hitherto has been to take individual routes along certain well defined roads but now an effort is being made to extend the service to whole counties.

Hitherto the only complete country service has been in Maryland, where a special postal wagon or a travelling postoffice has been operated in Carroll county. It is proposed now to inaugurate the regular rural delivery service without the use of any specially constructed vehicle in Washington county, Tenn.; Kent county, Del.; Fairfield county, Conn.; Niagara county, N.
Y.; Washington county, Pa., and Keokuk county, Ia.

These different counties have been selected with special reference to the varying conditions which obtain all over the United States, and when the service is satisfactory in these isolated towns it can readily be extended.
It is believed that by a year from now the experiment will have proceeded so far as to allow an attempt to deliver the mail everywhere in the United States where the population per mile will at all justify it.

Congress at this session will be asked for a large extension of appropriation, and next year the money needed for the purpose will reach a large figure. The extension of the rural free delivery service will mean the abolition of thousands of fourth class postoffices, but in their place will be a still greater number of traveling mail messengers, so that country politicians need not fear any loss of patronage.

FRED MELKE IS STILL MISSING

Nine-Year-Old Boy Who Left His Home Early in the Week Has Not Been Found.

The police have not yet been able to find any traces of Frank Melke, the nine year old boy that left his mother's home early in the week. When he was last seen he had on a pair of blue overalls, light colored jacket and a cap with the peak torn off.

He has light hair and blue eyes.
For some time past the boy has been associating with a wild class of boys and his parents have had considerable trouble in trying to correct his habits.
The boy did not take kindly to the methods employed by his parents to change his ways and he had threatened several times to leave home.

Just before he disappeared his mother had given him a sound whipping for some of his wrong doings and it is thought he left on that account.
The police force have searched all over the city for him and can find no trace of him. A number of boys that are his associates have been questioned and all deny having seen him. The police are of the opinion that he has boarded some train and has gone to some of the neighboring towns.

His parents are very much worried over him and are making every effort to locate him. Anyone coming across a boy answering to his description will confer a favor upon the police and on his parents by informing them at once.

Boers Again in the Field.

London, Nov. 24.—London hears dis-
quieting news from the seat of war in South Africa to-day, and the fear is openly expressed that Lord Kitchener
will have to reconquer the Orange Free State before he can begin the pacification of the Transvaal.

CRIMSON AND BLUE IN BATTLE TODAY

Giants of the Football Field Meet at New Haven Conn.

IS GAME OF THE YEAR

Yale Beats Harvard in a Hot Game by a Score of 28 to 0.

WISCONSIN BESTS ILLINOIS

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 24.—A hard fought game. Yale, 28; Harvard, 0.
Madison, Wis., Nov. 24.—The first half in the Madison-Illinois game resulted: Madison, 17; Illinois, 0.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 24.—With twenty thousand tickets sold to the Yale and Harvard football game it will probably be a record breaker. No game in recent years has meant so much. Today's winner is entitled to be the undisputed winner of the championship of America. The day came with traditional weather, drizzling rain with an occasional snowflake, the observer, however, promised fair skies for this afternoon.

The rain had a decided effect upon the betting. Yale being credited an advantage with a slippery field. The odds went from one hundred to fifty and sixty with Yale as the favorite.
No large bets have been made so far as learned, a hundred dollars being the limit.

Never in the history of football in America have two football teams appeared to be so evenly matched as the teams of Harvard and Yale which are scheduled to meet at New Haven day.

Last year they turned out to be about equally matched, as the score of 0-0 would indicate, it was generally admitted that Harvard had the better eleven. A tie this year would not be satisfactory as a tie is never satisfactory and it would leave the championship unsettled.

Both teams have gone through the season undefeated so there can be no dispute about the title should either eleven win today.

The Game at Madison.

Madison, Nov. 24.—The Illinois football team arrived last evening over the Illinois central road, and went to the hotel at once in order to get a good night's rest before tomorrow's hard contest. They are hoping to keep the score lower than 23, the number of points that Minnesota's team rolled up against them on November 10. On the other hand the Badger team is Jetermined to put the figures higher than this in order to maintain the position of prestige given them over the maroon and gold of Minnesota.

Large crowds are in from the outside, and it being the only championship game played in Madison this year a large local attendance is present.

Communication by long distance telephone with the Iowa management results in a statement that Wisconsin's challenge will be given consideration at a special meeting of the Iowa Board of Control this afternoon at four o'clock. No hint was given as to the possible outcome of the meeting.

PIGEONS FOR LAKE STEAMERS.

Winged Messengers to Bring Ashore News of Delay or Disaster.

Ludington, Mich., Nov. 24.—As a method of keeping track of its boats during the coming winter, when delays by ice are frequent even in midlake, the Pere Marquette railway company will place carrier pigeons on its fleet of six car ferries and line steamers, which will operate all winter. In event of any of the boats being in danger anywhere it is thought that aid can be dispatched in a short time if a bird is let go with the news contained in a note.

HE WILL NOT OUST MAYOR VAN WYCK

Roosevelt Announces Decision in New York Ice Trust Case—Proof is Lacking.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Governor Roosevelt last night gave out his decision in the application for the removal from office of Robert A. Van Wyck, mayor of the city of New York. He declines to remove the mayor on the ground that, while he was undoubtedly a stockholder in the American Ice company, there has been no proof that he willfully violated the law forbidding a public officer to be a stockholder in a corporation having dealings with his municipality.

STRICT WATCH KEPT BY GAME WARDENS

NEW STATE LAW THOROUGHLY TESTED THIS SEASON.

Weakness in the Act on Which an Attempt Will Be Made to Remedy When the Legislature Meets—Still Remains a Big Illegal Slaughter of Deer.

The deputy state game wardens claim that the number of violations of the laws relating to shipment have been unusually few and they say this is in a large measure due to the strictness exercised by the express companies which have refused to allow their agents to take any deer which were not evidently all right.

Watch Has Been Strict.

The transportation lines in and out of Milwaukee have been watched since the opening of the season by deputy game warden Zinn and game warden J. T. Ellarson and a force of eighteen or twenty deputies has paid strict attention to Winona, La Crosse, Prairie du Chien, Appleton Junction and other places where deer might be handled.

It is claimed that one object of the law has been pretty well fulfilled and that is that the deer killed remained in the state. The limited number of non-resident licenses and the difficulty in shipping deer out of the state contrary to the game laws has had the effect of cutting down the pot-hunting business with the result that for the most part the men who hunted owned the deer that they killed.

Character of the Game.

Another feature of the hunting this year is that a large proportion of the animals killed, a proportion of nine-tenths, according to some of the wardens, were bucks. There were few does and still fewer fawns and for the most part the animals were larger and better in appearance than any that have been seen in years. The total number killed in this state, legitimately, is not known, but in a couple of weeks, when the license tags have all been returned the figures will be made public.

As the law grows older its weaknesses are found out and cases where changes to its advantage can be made become clear. One of the changes that will be asked for at the legislature this year will be that the licenses be issued in tag form and that all hunters be compelled to affix a tag to the carcass as soon as an animal is killed, power being given the deputies to seize at any time and place any carcass they may find which is not so tagged. This will stop pot-hunting as it will prevent that class of men from killing a number of animals in the hope of selling them at the nearest market, or to hunters who have not themselves brought down a deer in the woods. This latter is a lucrative business as many hunters who go into the woods have a good time without sighting a deer but few come home empty handed.

There is no doubt in the minds of old hunters that there still remains a big illegitimate slaughter of deer. Many animals are killed and eaten in the woods, and many others are killed just because a man with a rifle happens to get a shot at them and taking advantage of it whether he has already secured his legal limit or not.

Dogs Have Been Used.

The use of dogs in chasing deer is another way in which the law has been violated in this state, and is one of the meanest, particularly as it is usually the richest, and materially, the best hunters, who indulge in this form of sport. Holding positions which give them influence, these men have in a number of instances, it is reported, gone into the woods with packs of hounds and not only violated the law, but destroyed the sport over miles of territory for men who were hunting legitimately. One party which was hunting near Woodruff has reported that there is not the slightest doubt that dogs had been turned loose in that section of country.

These men say that dogs were running the country and that as near as they could learn had been let loose by a rich lumberman and a party of friends from another state. These hunters had arranged with a guide to put up at his shack, but when they put in an appearance with their dogs the guide turned them down, telling them that they could not hunt with him unless they sent their dogs home, and accordingly they moved their headquarters. One of the most effective ways of stopping this is for every hunter to shoot every dog he sees. The animals are not to blame, but the wrong-doers are harder to get at, it would seem.

STUDENTS AT A SCHOOL BANQUET

Seniors and Juniors of the High School
Each Had a Merry Blowout Last Night.

The Caledonian rooms were the scene of a happy gathering last evening when the gentlemen members of the High school class of 1901 were entertained at a banquet by the ladies of the class. Prof. and Mrs. D. D. Mayne, and Rev. and Mrs. Robert C. Denison were also guests.

The tables were arranged to imitate the class pin. The banquet room was decorated with the class colors and smilax and presented a handsome picture. A football "that did not win the Denison cup" was suspended from the gas fixture, and caused the boys pain every time that they looked toward it.

The parlor was fixed up in oriental style with pillows, rugs and lamps. The following toasts were responded to:

Results of the Contest—Coral Bonesteel.
Class Football—Richard Griffiths.
The Seniors—Arthur Bauman.
The Gentlemen—Alice Estes.
The Senior Football Team—Will Ryan.

The Ladies—Frank Kent.
J. H. S. as Others See Them—Rev. Denison.
Behind the Portals of J. H. S.—Prof. Mayne.

Harry Kirkland officiated as toastmaster.

Vocal Solo, "Good Fellowship,"—Len Matthews.

Violin Solo—Mary Stevens.

Miss Myrtle Whetstone had charge of the banquet and looked after the wants of the guests.

Junior Class Banquet.

The gentlemen members of the Junior class of the Janesville High school were treated to a swell banquet by the lady members of the class last evening at 6:30 o'clock at the High school. The reception room was handsomely decorated with the class colors, red and gold, intermixed with smilax.

The football with which the Denison cup was won was suspended from the gas jet. Cozy corners had been fixed up with oriental rugs, sofa pillows and lamps.

The reception committee consisted of Misses Bessie Green, Harriet Cox, Margaret Mouat Edith Loomis. The guests of honor were Miss Paulson and Mr. Dudley, teachers in the High school.

The tables were laid for seventy-five guests and at each plate was a bouquet of carnations, with a large bunch of chrysanthemums in the center. The Denison cup occupied a conspicuous place on the table and was also prettily decorated with the class colors and smilax. Miss Isabel Menzies presided as toast mistress. The toasts were as follows:

These men say that dogs were running the country and that as near as they could learn had been let loose by a rich lumberman and a party of friends from another state. These hunters had arranged with a guide to put up at his shack, but when they put in an appearance with their dogs the guide turned them down, telling them that they could not hunt with him un-

Social Entertainment.

About sixty-five ladies enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. T. W. Goldin and Miss Flora Dunwiddie at the home of Mrs. Goldin, 358 Court street, yesterday afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served by Mesdames Dunwiddie, W. B. Conrad and Leslie, also the Misses Mouat, Mary Mouat, Racine Bostwick and Agnes Shumway.

Chrysanthemums were used to decorate the parlors which presented a handsome appearance. The game of the evening was guessing the names of twenty-five noted statesmen and soldiers printed on slips of paper with the letters transposed. Each guest received and the one guessing the largest number in a fixed time was given a prize.

Mrs. J. T. Wright won the first prize and Mrs. E. O. Kimberly the second.

White Cloud flour is the best that money can buy. We mean every word of it. How can we put it more plainly. Your money back if you don't like it. But better yet, just ask someone who has tried it. We wouldn't have so much to say about it if it wasn't such a genuine good bargain and trade winner. If you haven't already tried it try it at once. You will be money ahead. Dedrick Bros.

POPE LEO PASSING INTO A DECLINE

FINAL END OF ROMAN PONTIFF FAST APPROACHING.

Some Details as to the Daily Life of the Ecclesiastic Whose Influence is Paramount Over Millions of People—Serves the Church for Sixty-Two Years.

Dispatches from Rome indicate that Pope Leo is rapidly passing into a decline. Only his extraordinary abstinence and rigid diet have kept him alive up to this time. Something about his habits is of general interest just now.

After about four hours' sleep and some additional rest, the pope rises at 6. Besides his coffee and milk, taken with a morsel of bread—literally a morsel—he settles down to the work of the day. More than half way through the morning he takes a cup of broth, and occasionally at other times when he feels weakness. At 1 o'clock or even later, sometimes as late as 2 o'clock, he takes his midday meal, which, according to the old-time Italian hygiene, should give the staple of sustenance to the body. It consists of a little soup, which is French rather than Italian, being clear and not filled with vegetables and paste; of a little boiled meat, the inevitable bolito, which opens every Italian dinner; of some roast—preferably roast-lamb, with vegetables, and, infrequently, of a pudding of spinach à la Parisienne or of some whole-some vegetables, and of fruit.

This light refectory may be measured by its accompaniment of wine, which is claret especially prepared and sent from a convent at Bordeaux. He drinks a wineglassful. He has been advised, especially some years ago, to try richer wines, but he has expressed dissatisfaction after a trial. His solitary glass of wine suffices to secure him his daily siesta, which he takes reposing on a couch with his face turned toward the window of the room.

Daily Life of the Pontiff.

Owing to the lateness of his dinner, and his siesta, the day is advanced before he resumes work. The pope is a representative of the old Italian manners, and of the old ecclesiastical fashions; a representative in cast of mind and in habits of life of the chastened and nonluxurious renaissance.

In Italy the intellectual workers and the churchmen preferably study in the morning, take a full meal and proportionate rest in the afternoon and then their "constitutional." When the weather is fine the pope, after a short period of work, which follows on his siesta, is carried on a sedan, so as to avoid changes of atmosphere, to the entrance of the gardens. Here he enters his carriage, which is closed, and is driven about.

After he has been driven a few turns he alights and takes a walk, escorted by the prelates and chamberlains in attendance.

He has a collection of birds of which he is very fond, especially of his gaily-colored parrots, and a collection of animals—pelicans, ostriches and fawns. These also receive his frequent attention. He has a vineyard which is so much the object of his care that he may almost be called its cultivator. Such, with a supervision of the direction in every respect, are his diversions in the gardens, where there are many things of beauty, though it is not "gay and prim" after the fashion of English gardens, but abounding in the wild naturalness of a half-rustic park.

Serves Church Sixty-Two Years.

Joachim Vincent Raphael Aloisius Pecci, Pope Leo XIII, will be 91 years old next March. He was born in Carpineto, diocese of Anagni, Italy. He has been pope for twenty-two years and has served the church for sixty-two years.

The Pecci family has been remarkable for the longevity of its members. One of the pope's brothers lived to be 91 and another to be 84.

At the age of 8 the present pope was sent with his elder brother Joseph to the Jesuit college at Viterbo. In 1829 he entered the schools of the Roman college. He began his studies in theology in 1828 and he was ordained priest in December, 1837. After distinguishing himself in various posts he was made a cardinal and at the time of Pius IX's death was camerlengo, having the management of the temporalities of the holy see.

Pope Pius died Feb. 7, 1878, and Feb. 18 Cardinal Pecci was chosen his successor. He took the name of Leo XIII out of respect to the memory of Leo XII, for whom he had a particular veneration.

LECTURE ON WILLIAM MORRIS.

By Prof. Charles Zueblin of the Chicago University.

An interesting intellectual treat which will rank with the best that Janesville has enjoyed for many a day is promised in a lecture on William Morris by Prof. Charles Zueblin of Chicago university, Friday evening December 7. Those who heard Elbert Hubbard's beautiful tribute to William Morris will be glad to know more of this one of the truly great men of the century. Nature is not often so lavish of her gifts that she makes of one man a poet, an artist, a great teacher, a social reformer and a successful business man. How William Morris rose to distinction in all of these departments of thought and life is an interesting story from which every business man, every club woman, every teacher and every high school boy and girl may gain inspiration.

Prof. Zueblin is associate professor of sociology at Chicago university and one of the brilliant younger men of the faculty of that institution of learning. A gentleman of wide culture and extensive travel whose lectures on "Art and Life" have attracted much attention throughout the country. An interesting feature of the William Morris lecture will be the beautiful colored slides with which it will be illustrated by stereopticon. The people of Janesville are to be congratulated that Prof. Zueblin is to come to us with his finest lecture.

The Small of the Back

That is where some people feel weak all the time.

They are likely to be despondent and it is not unusual to find them borrowing trouble as if they hadn't enough already.

The fact is their kidneys are weak, either naturally or because of sickness, exposure, worry or other influences.

"I am thankful to say," writes J. L. Campbell, of Sycamore, Ill., "that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me. For many years I was troubled with backache. At times I was so bad I had to be helped from the bed or chair. I am now well and strong and free from pain." What this great medicine did for him it has done for others.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. Begin treatment with Hood's today.

There is a matter which touches your comfort. You want a clear, fair complexion. This is really nine-tenths a question of the treatment of the pores of the skin. Some toilet soaps are as nippy and keen as mustard. If you will only use the virtue you call your Judgment, it will tell you that any soap which leaves the hands habitually dry is robbing the skin of its natural oil. Free alkali is the robber's name. Ivory Soap has no free alkali. Try it! It floats.

THE FATHER IN THE HOME.

The Gazette has contained in its Saturday issue for the past few weeks a series of editorials on the home, and the various members of the family that contribute to its welfare and happiness. The girl, the boy and the mother, an essential trio to the completeness of the ideal home, have been recognized, but the father, the most important factor, has been neglected, though not overlooked.

There are some people in this world that are seldom thoroughly appreciated. The inventor, the discoverer, or the man or woman who toils faithfully in obscurity, through the long hours of the day or night, for the benefit of humanity, seeking no recognition, and satisfied when the work in hand is well accomplished.

This busy world does not stand around on street corners, hat in hand, with a smile on the face and a courteous bow, to say to the stranger, the casual acquaintance, or the more familiar employee, "That was a good effort, or a good day's work; I appreciate it." This kind of commendation is rarely accorded, and seldom expected.

But there is another class, where the relationships of life are closer and more intimate, that have a right to expect, although they may not claim it, a great deal more appreciation than they receive, and this class is "The father in the home."

Have you ever studied him with reference to the conditions suggested? If not, make a little tour of investigation, and you may be surprised at the result.

He is a farmer. Commencing back in the years of his young and vigorous manhood, he toiled early and late, with the young wife by his side, who shared in the struggle, to subdue the land, and make it reward him with the means to pay off the mortgage. Success crowned the effort. A comfortable home resulted. Happy children graced the board, and the white farm house with commodious barns and outbuildings, gave evidence of prosperity and a happy home.

The children outgrew the country school house, and with it the love for the farm life. They looked out into what seemed to them, a world of larger opportunities and a life of less drudgery.

The mother was consulted, and John and Mary were sent away to school or into the city for training in different lines of work. The father, solicitous for the welfare of the boy and girl, toiled on uncomplainingly, providing money for increased expenses, hoping that new ambitions would bring to the children contentment and success. The mother pictured a bright future for the young people, for a mother's pride never permits her to lose confidence in the ability of her own offspring. The father, more skeptical, because more practical, is not very much surprised when after a few years he finds on his hands a boy or girl unfitted for the farm and incompetent to successfully meet the battle of life. He has sacrificed without complaint and without appreciation to gratify ambition that his judgment condemned and as he approaches old age he discovers not unfrequently that more interest is manifested in his will than in his welfare.

He is a business or professional man preplexed and annoyed with questions of finance and wondering whether he will be able to stand the tide, and win in the battle of sharp competition about him.

He usually succeeds in taking into the home at evening a cheerful face and a cheery voice, so that the wife and children may be happy and not burdened with his apprehensions. Household expenses increase every year, the family must live as becomes their station, the boy and girl are in society, and "the old man" is stingy if he don't foot the bills cheerfully, and be proud that he has a son and daughter capable of leading the procession. A total lack of appreciation is so apparent that it sometimes happens that a final separation from the old home comes to the father with a sense of relief, and he says in his thought "They will learn by experience that life is not all holiday."

He may be in a more humble home, where work in shop or factory is so exacting that Sunday is about the only time at his command to become acquainted with his children. He toils and economizes for them, keeping them in school as long as he can hold them there, in order that they may go into life better equipped than he was, when he commenced the battle for himself. He watches the development of mental and moral character with interest and deep solicitude, but is too often rewarded with disappointment and a total lack of appreciation.

The boy becomes tired of the home and seeks companionship and gayer surroundings in the saloon or on the street. The girl becomes restless in her environments, and the father's life is too slow and commonplace for her ambitions. So the boy and girl drift out of the home all too soon, and grow away from the love and watchful care of the one spot on earth that should always be a refuge. The mother's love follows them, and the father pays the bills, until patience ceases to be a virtue, and he turns away with a sad heart, and the feeling that he had a right to expect better things. These experiences are all too common and appreciation is too frequently delayed until across an open grave the children realize fully for the first time that a father's love and care has gone out of their lives forever.

Many fathers are responsible to a large extent for the lack of appreciation in the home. The struggle of life sometimes deadens sensibilities, and the genial nature that means so much to the home, is lost in the conflict. Sullenness and moroseness develop until the wife becomes timid and loses her identity, and the children are uncomfortable in his presence.

The home under these conditions soon loses its attractions, and becomes simply a boarding house for the husband and father. He seeks more congenial surroundings in the club or saloon and is almost a stranger in his own home. The love that is waiting for him is stifled or turned into other channels, and his presence is endured rather than enjoyed.

When the home is fully appreciated the home life is ideal. The father and mother work together, sacrificing for each other, and planning with ever-absorbing interest for the welfare of the children. The bond that united them in wedlock, strengthens with the years, until they learn to think alike, and plan together with a single purpose. A home thus equipped is a haven for children, and as they go on into the years and out into life, they never weary of coming back to it, with love expressed.

The ideal home contributes largely to ideal citizenship. The father is the recognized head in the home. He should appreciate the honor as well as the grave responsibility, and working for its best good, should be more thoroughly appreciated by every member of the family.

ANOTHER TURKEY DISPUTE ON

Exequatur for a Consul Refused—Battle-ship May Have Orders.

Constantinople, Nov. 24.—The Porte has definitely rejected the request for an exequatur for a United States consul at Harpoot. This refusal is regarded by the United States legation as a direct violation of treaty rights, and consequently, despite the refusal, Dr. Thomas H. Norton, who was appointed by President McKinley some time ago to establish a consulate at Harpoot, has been directed to proceed to his post.

The expected visit of the battleship Kentucky to Smyrna is believed to relate quite as much to this matter as to the indemnity question.

"Kid" McFadden Knocks Out O'Brien, Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 24.—Before the Phoenix Athletic club here, "Kid" McFadden of San Francisco knocked out "Freckles" O'Brien of New Orleans in five rounds. A large crowd witnessed the fight, which was a lively exhibition.

Chile at Buffalo Fair. Valparaiso, Nov. 24.—The Chilean government has presented congress with a bill providing for the expenditure of $500,000 for a proper Chilean representation at the Buffalo exposition.

Hundreds of Janesville Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Janesville people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Janesville reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far away places.

Read the following:

Mrs. S. L. Beiden of 64 S. River St. says: "During two or three years I suffered most of the time with a terrible dragging down pain in my back just over the kidneys. It was very bad when I was at work, and if I did any lifting my bladder became affected, causing me considerable annoyance. I also had attacks of headaches, which seemed like congestion in the top and back of my head. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills I did not have any too much confidence in them, but my daughter got a box at the People's Drug Co's store and persuaded me to use them. They took right hold and made a wonderful change in my condition. I hardly realized how bad I was until Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief from the afflictions."

INDIANS SLAY THREE MEN.

Crime Committed in the Far West—Mounted Police in Pursuit.

Ensenada, Lower California, Nov. 24.—A report has reached here of the killing of three men near Juarez by Piacacho Indians. The report states that one Acuno, who had a store at Juarez, was robbed of cattle by Indians. With the assistance of two neighbors he gave chase.

Subsequently a party taking cattle through the Colorado river discovered the three men dead. Mounted police are being sent from Ensenada.

EXPECTATIONS FOR SUNDAY

The bubbling enthusiasm which has characterized the convention since its inception continues unabated, and this morning the faces of the delegates show the same kind and cheerful interest as at the first session. They are here to please and be pleased. No word of rumor or carping criticism is heard. All seem moved by a common impulse to get all possible good out of the convention and are ready and willing to contribute their share to the general fund of good fellowship and fraternal good will.

Dr. Gregg's Bible Studies.
Too much cannot be said about the work of Dr. Gregg in conducting the Bible studies. He is a profound Bible student, seeking always for the esoteric meaning of the passage. He is clearly in love with the work and has the gift to imbue others with the same fervor that animates his own utterances.

On Association Progress.
The speech of sacrifice and association progress was handled by Mr. Moehlenpach in his usual entertaining manner this morning. He does not believe in setting down and throwing bouquets to ones self because a little has been accomplished. He thinks the top stratum of the work for the association has been reached and association has been scratched and that in order to do something worthy of the name of successful effort the spirit of sacrifice must needs be invoked. It is this spirit which leads on to success in all lines and the absence of it that accounts for the lack of success where much was possible.

He urged his hearers to pray for a re-conversion to the work they were engaged in for the need of such devotion at this juncture is great. His talk was brief but it was the kind that awakened the conscience and touched the heart.

The report was accepted and offered to the auditing committee.

Held a Business Hour.

The business hour that followed was pregnant with important results. It was presided over by Fred B. Smith, who clearly is no tyro in such affairs. He recommended that $4,000 be raised for the state work for the ensuing year. He spoke of what other states had raised—Michigan, $6,500; Minnesota, $7,000; Iowa, $7,000 and Illinois, $17,000. Even far-away Kansas made a better showing than Wisconsin. "My brethren these things ought not so to be."

Referring to the state committee he declared that he believed not another in the United States could do so much with so little money. They had saved the day for nearly every association in the state, and if they had taken a mortgage on all the buildings they had made possible to build they would own every association building in Wisconsin.

There was audible corroborative testimony on this point. He urged the delegates to subscribe liberally, but would allow no pressure to be brought to bear on an individual.

No names were read but in a few minutes three $100 subscriptions were in his hands, several $25 pledges and other smaller amounts. The whole sum raised was $1,855.

The convention was then turned over to Dr. Gregg for the daily Bible study.

Session This Afternoon.

In spite of the gloomy weather there was a large audience this afternoon at the association building. At 2:45 P. D. Hopkins of Racine gave an interesting talk on the association printed matter, the kind that pays and the other kind. M. C. Otto of Milwaukee the Junior secretary, spoke of his experiences in the work with boys. Much stress is being laid upon this department. Mr. Otto is better qualified perhaps than any other man in the association to treat it exhaustively.

TO REACH THE COUNTRY BOYS.

Address by H. A. Moehlenpach at Session Last Evening.

Last evening's session opened with two fine selections by the orchestra, followed by the usual devotional exercises of prayer and song. H. A. Moehlenpach, of Clinton, then addressed the convention on the "Opportunity of Reaching Young Men in small towns. His opening sentence was, "It has been said 'sin has no monopoly on any one section of our country,' nor has any section a monopoly of strong and noble manhood. His specific plea was for better and more exhaustive work in the small villages, the cross-roads and any point, however small, that marks the center of a country."

These are real nerve centers, with radii ranging from five to twenty miles. Here is where the young men meet for trade, for amusement and for social entertainment. It represents a rich field, rich in the liberal sense. Farming communities are usually well-to-do communities; no farmer is very poor. He has at least fuel to burn and food to eat. The young men of such localities are strong and robust, reared in a natural out-of-door way.

They are unspoiled by enervating conditions and dissipation of the city. They are not especially easy to reach for a number of reasons, but when once interested they are excellent for the purpose. Moreover, these people have not yet learned how to give. It is time that they should be taught to give of their abundance to uplift themselves and their community.

A recent issue of the association paper says: "The past fifty years work must be extensive," and this refers directly to the medium small towns. The cities are well provided for; adults and juniors, the railroad men, all are under the wing of the association. The student volunteer movement is going ahead satisfactorily, but the best and most promising field, right at our very doors is ignored. The immediate attention of the directors of the work is called to this neglected quarter.

There is a very pleasant surprise was sprung, viz., a selection by the quartette. It was wildly applauded, but the gentlemen were reluctant to appear again until the presiding officer was forced, metaphorically speaking, to bring them back by the neck. Their two songs were two gems of the convention.

Robert Weidensall continued the subject presented by the first speaker. It seemed a remarkable coincidence that he had been in Janesville thirty years ago, in pre-secretary days, and he told of his first meeting with State Secretary Anderson, who is doing such acceptable work in Wisconsin. He is convinced that the country work is the most pressing of all. One great hindrance is the strong spirit of sectarianism; another, lack of means to supervise the country work.

He suggested as the best means to effect the end in view was the appointment of an assistant state secretary to look after the country and a country secretary to supervise the work outside of the cities. One thousand dollars would cover the expenses of the country secretary and the returns would be at a high rate of interest.

C. K. Ober, secretary of the Milwaukee committee delivered an exceedingly able address on the Forward Movement, by which he meant missionary work in foreign fields. His statements of the work done and that still to be done were simply amazing to one outside his opportunities for definite information.

Already twenty secretaries have been sent out to points in China, Japan, India and South America and now comes the old Macedonian cry for more from Korea, from three cities of Japan, Shanghai, China; Poona, India; the City of Mexico, Buenos Ayres, Havana and elsewhere. The field is already white to the harvest, but the laborers are few. Mr. Ober is an uncommonly good speaker with a vigor of thought and a command of language which would distinguish him anywhere.

POND'S EXTRACT

There is only ONE POND'S EXTRACT, and everybody knows its purity, strength and great medicinal value. Don't take the weak, watery Witch Hazel preparations represented to be "the same as" POND'S EXTRACT. They generally contain "wood alcohol," which irritates the skin, and, taken internally, is a deadly poison. Get genuine POND'S EXTRACT, sold ONLY in SEALED bottles, in BUFF wrappers.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.
Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McFEE'S Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

A Large Company's Branch in Janesville.

N. B. Robinson & Co. having decided to go out of the wholesale beer business, the Blatz Brewing Co., of Milwaukee, has established a Janesville branch with offices at No. 18 East Milwaukee street, room 12, and will hereafter represent its own interests in this city. Messrs. E. Boots and Henry Casey, gentlemen who are well and favorably known about the city, have been retained by the Blatz Company, and it will be their aim to promptly fill all orders sent to the above address, or telephoned to "675 Rock Co." or "447 Wisconsin Co."

Comment regarding this company's products seems unnecessary at this time, as the Blatz brews are held in highest regard by beer drinkers everywhere.
